

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A Desperately Serious Case Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Brought to the very verge of starvation by the rejection of all nourishment, her vitality almost destroyed, the recovery of Mrs. J. A. Wyatt, of No. 1188 Seventh street, Des Moines, Iowa, seemed hopeless. Her physicians tried vainly to reach the seat of the difficulty and death must have resulted if she had not pursued an independent course suggested by her sister's experience.

Mrs. Wyatt says: "I had pain in the region of the heart, palpitation and shortness of breath so that I could not walk very fast. My head ached very badly and I was seized with vomiting spells whenever I took any food. A doctor was called who pronounced the trouble gastritis, but he gave me no relief. Then I tried a second doctor without benefit. By this time I had become very weak. I could not keep the most delicate broth on my stomach, and at the end of a month I was scarcely more than skin and bone and was nearly starving to death.

"Then I recalled how much benefit my sister had got from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to take them in place of the doctor's medicine. It proved a wise decision for they helped me as nothing else had done. I could now take weak tea and crackers and steadily more nourishment. In two weeks I was able to leave my bed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were the only thing that checked the vomiting and as soon as that was stopped my other difficulties left me. I have a vigorous appetite now and am able to attend to all the duties of my home. I praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People to all my friends because I am thoroughly convinced of their merit."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists and by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

MEDICAL BRIEVITIES.

Women are to be admitted to doctors of medicine by the University of Prague, which, however, refuses to admit them as doctors of philosophy. At a recent session of the Paris Academy of Medicine, M. Chaurand stated that in many patients treated by X-rays for cancer of the tongue, the growth had become rapidly disseminated. The academy adopted his conclusion that medical men alone should have the right to use X-rays for treatment.

One of the most important causes of disease, according to Prof. Macfadyen of London is the inhalation of particles of dust in the streets of cities. He holds that the dust not only often contains the germs of disease, but that it has a deleterious effect upon the respiratory organs, through mechanical irritation.

Dr. Klein, F. R. S., has communicated to the British government the discovery that dried tissues of animals dead of plague, in which the bacilli originally present have been killed by desiccation, nevertheless retain the power of communicating the disease to animals into which they are injected, and which die with all the symptoms of plague, but without themselves containing any bacilli.

TALES OF THE TOTS.

"Dear! Dear! Willie, can't you be good for a quarter of an hour?"

"I can for a quarter of a dollar, ma."

Fred (at the concert)—That man must have a taste for music, papa.

Papa—Which man, Freddie?

"Why, the one who is trying to swallow the trombone."

Mamma—Oh, dear! Margie, I don't believe you know what it is to be good.

Little Margie—Yes, I do, mamma. It's not doing the things you want to do.

Mamma—Why, Johnny, you have eaten more than your share of the berries!

Johnny—That's all right, mamma. Minnie ate most of the cake we stole yesterday.

"Why do you want a light left in your room when you go to bed, dear?" asked Elsie's mother. "Are you afraid?"

"No mamma," replied Elsie; "I want it so I can see to go to sleep."

A PERFECT HAND.

How its Appearance Became Familiar to the Public.

The story of how probably the most perfect feminine hand in America became known to the people is rather interesting. As the story goes the possessor of the hand was with some friends in a photographer's one day and while talking, held up a piece of candy. The pose of the hand with its perfect contour and faultless shape attracted the attention of the artist, who proposed to photograph it. The result was a beautiful picture kept in the family until one day, after reading a letter from someone inquiring as to who wrote the Postum and Grape-Nuts advertisements, Mr. Post said to his wife: "We receive so many inquiries of this kind, that it is evident some people are curious to know, suppose we let the advertising department have that picture of your hand to print and name it 'A Helping Hand.'" (Mrs. Post has assisted him in preparation of some of the most famous advertisements.)

There was a natural shrinking from the publicity, but with an agreement that no name would accompany the picture, his use was granted.

The case was presented in the light of extending a welcoming hand to the friends of Postum and Grape-Nuts, so the picture appeared on the back covers of many of the January and February magazines and became known to millions of people.

Many artists have commented upon it as probably the most perfect hand in the world.

The advertising dept. of the Postum Co. did not seem able to resist the temptation to enlist the curiosity of the public, by refraining from giving the name of the owner when the picture appeared, but stated that the name would be given later in one of the newspaper announcements, thus seeking to induce the readers to look for and read the forthcoming advertisements to learn the name of the owner.

This combination of art and commerce and the multitude of inquiries furnished an excellent illustration of the interest the public takes in the personal and family life of large manufacturers whose names become household words through extensive and continuous announcements in newspapers and periodicals.

STATE NEWS PICK-UPS

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

The House of Representatives Votes To Put the Tax on Whisky.

Frankfort, Feb. 25.—One of the most important bills to either body this session was Senator Cox's bill presented by the senate. It provides that shares of stock in a foreign corporation owned by a resident of this state shall not be taxed in this state if said foreign corporation pays taxes in the state where it is located. The bill passed by a decided majority. A bill that will make all schoolteachers happy was passed by the senate, and will go at once to the governor for his approval. It provides that a teacher's pay shall not be deducted for the time consumed in attending a county teachers' institute when held during a school term. The Johnson bill to prohibit the plea of self-defense in trial of an offense committed with a deadly weapon if the accused carried a deadly weapon within 100 yards before the offense was committed, was defeated.

The principal fight over the revenue bill of the session was the one proposing to tax all rectified or blended whisky made in this state 1 1/2 cents on each gallon. The two committees never agreed on a section providing for such a tax, but the house committee finally decided to put the extra fifth class when it was presented to the house, and by a decisive vote the house sustained the committee and let the 1 1/2 cents per gallon stand.

Frankfort, March 1.—The senate adopted three house bills (with some amendments) affecting second class cities. The first was an amendment to a bill introduced by Senator Allen was adopted providing that the construction of sewers in second class cities, and a similar amendment as to the construction of streets at the cost of abutting property owners in second class cities. Senator Allen's amendment requires that bids for construction shall be opened publicly after having been advertised. The third bill provided for the construction of sewers in second class cities, and a similar amendment as to the construction of streets at the cost of abutting property owners in second class cities. The bill was passed by a decisive vote.

Frankfort, March 2.—The Ward primary election bill came up in the senate as unfinished business. It provides for holding all primaries of all parties on the same day each year, for the payment of the expenses of the primaries by the counties and not by the voters. The bill was passed by a decisive vote.

ARE OUT ON BOND.

Judge James Hargis and Sheriff Ed Callahan—Change of Venue.

Jackson, Ky., March 3.—Judge John L. Dorsey, appointed to try the cases of Judge Hargis, Sheriff Ed Callahan and others, charged with complicity in the murder of Jas. H. Marcum, called the cases Friday afternoon. He held that as the motion for a change of venue stood he would have to overrule it. He finally granted time to change the procedure, and after discussion among the attorneys it was agreed that the commonwealth's attorney be allowed to present his amended motion Saturday. Because of the unsanitary condition of the jail and Judge Hargis' delicate health Judge Dorsey allowed the defendants to be out on bond of $10,000 each until Saturday morning. G. W. Sewell, A. H. Hargis and Reuben McQueen signed the bonds.

THE DOG TAX LAW.

Indorsed by the Farmers' Institute, Which Elects New Officers.

Frankfort, Ky., March 1.—The state Farmers' institute indorsed the new dog tax law and elected the following officers: President, H. M. Frohman, of Carroll county; vice president, Morgan Hughes, of Warren county; secretary, R. K. Hart, of Fleming county; treasurer, C. M. Hanna, of Shelby; executive committee, G. M. McGraw, of Livingston; Hugh Dawson, of Logan; H. C. Lovelace, of Nelson; M. F. Johnson, of Jefferson; T. T. Hornsby, of Shelby; William Robb, of Mason, and Casswell Prewitt, of Montgomery.

THE WHOLE DIRECTORY SENT.

The Man Wanted the Names of the "Unsaved" in Louisville, Ky.

Louisville, Ky., March 2.—Postmaster Butler received a letter from a man at Rutland, Vt., asking him for a list of the "unsaved men and women in Louisville." He explained that he wanted to do missionary work here since he had heard this in a wicked city. Postmaster Butler in order not to sully any one forwarded a copy of the City Directory, containing the names of 250,000 people.

TO PRODUCE JETT.

Prison Warden Directed To Take Him To Cynthia for Trial.

Cynthiana, Ky., March 3.—Judge H. G. Botts, of Owen County, Ky., appointed by Gov. Beckham to try the case of Curtis Jett for alleged killing of Jas. Cockrell, directed the warden of the state prison to produce Jett Saturday morning. J. Stanley Webster, of this place, has been retained by Cockrell's friends. J. I. Blanton will defend Jett. Judge Botts is a former partner of ex-Senator Lindsey.

MOONSHINERS KILLED.

Hindman, Ky., March 2.—Fars and Perry Sloane, moonshiners, were killed here in a desperate fight with revenue officers. They fortified themselves in a log cabin. Malcolm Hollday, one of the posse, received several wounds before his brother forced his way into the cabin and killed the moonshiners.

WILL TRY CURTIS JETT.

Cynthiana, Ky., March 3.—Judge S. G. Botts, of Owen County, Ky., was appointed by Gov. Beckham to try the case against Curtis Jett, charged with the murder of James Cockrell. J. H. Webster will assist the commonwealth's attorney, and Jett will be defended by J. I. Blanton.

LYNE TO RIDE LOTUS EATER.

Lexington, Ky., March 2.—Jockey Louis Lyne, who has been spending the winter at the Larchmont stud of his father, S. C. Lyne, in this county, will have his first mount of the year on Lotus Eater in the Derby at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, on St. Patrick's day.

GIVEN A VERDICT FOR $10,000.

Madisonville, Ky., March 1.—In the circuit court Harry Brown was given a verdict of $10,000 against the L. & N. railroad. Brown was a fireman on a coal road and in a coal collision at Victoria had a foot and leg badly mangled.

FOXHALL KEENE AT LEXINGTON.

Lexington, Ky., March 1.—Foxhall P. Keene has arrived here for a short visit to his farm, which adjoins Castlewood, the property of his father, James P. Keene. Mr. Keene keeps his polo ponies and dogs at his Kentucky place.

REVOLUTIONARY HEROINE.

Georgia Amazon, Who, Single-Handed, Captured Ten Depredating Tories.

Nancy Hart, the famous Georgia character of revolutionary days, is by no means mythical, as was a very recent personage. Notwithstanding her elegant frame, red hair, freckles and crossed eyes, her memory is kept green among the people of her native state than that of many a more prepossessing heroine, says the Richmond News-Leader.

She was what is familiarly known as a Georgia "Cracker," a poor though intelligent white, who lived among the sand hills or in the isolated districts of the state.

Her capture of the ten Tories while they were devouring the tempting viands she had been compelled to prepare for them is recognized as a historical fact.

During Andrew Jackson's presidency representatives from Georgia, desiring to bring that state to the notice of the president, decided to present a painting for one of the niches in the rotunda of the United States capitol building. At length it was completed—a portrait of Nancy Hart, bareheaded, barefooted, her skirts to her knees, crossing a shallow stream driving ten Tories before her at point of one of her own guns.

The president, who was redheaded and said of hardy pioneer stock himself, is said to have been very much pleased with the picture, and it is to be hoped that Georgia prides by the diplomacy of her representatives.

The idea that Nancy Hart followed her husband to Florida and died there is erroneous. After the fierce disturbances of the revolutionary war she was taken by her husband to his home in Georgia, where she lived with her children and grandchildren until her death.

On one of the steps on the route her son-in-law became engaged in a drunken brawl and was taken into custody by an officer. Every quick to meet an emergency, Nancy went to the rescue. Bestowing a few pugilistic lumps on the detainee of her son-in-law she seized the latter and lifted him bodily into the bed of the wagon and drove out of town.

Nancy Hart captured near Edgefield, a small town not far from the Georgia line. Her fame preceded her there, and she was welcomed and respected by her neighbors. Mr. grandfather's grandchild, who lived in Edgefield and was one of the early Baptist preachers, the Scotch-Irish were almost universally Presbyterian, but once agitated there was soon a large number of Baptists and Methodists throughout the county. The letters were for the most part fitful, and revivals that rivaled Moody's and Jones' in enthusiasm were held under huge open tabernacles, and men rode on horseback for 50 miles to be in attendance.

Tradition says that Nancy Hart was converted at one of these meetings. It would be reasonable to suppose that time and hardships would have touched her to reach a desperate fight with revenue officers. They fortified themselves in a log cabin. Malcolm Hollday, one of the posse, received several wounds before his brother forced his way into the cabin and killed the moonshiners.

FRANCE'S NEW PRESIDENT.

M. Fallieres, the newly elected French president, was born in Mezin. There is a church dating from the thirteenth century in this little city. Against its walls once nestled the smithy and home of a blacksmith. It was in that house, for his grandfather church in 1872, but the smithy was torn. The property was sold and the church in 1872, but the smithy was torn. The property was sold and the church in 1872, but the smithy was torn.

GOOD EXAMPLE.

It was a fine example of love of peace and humanity that was set by the American and English delegates to the Algeiras conference when they declined to go with the rest to the bull fights.

A FREE LANCE.

Benedick—Not married, eh? I'll bet you're fond of a girl, though. Bachelor—Oh, yes, indeed. "Her name is Legion."—Philadelphia Ledger.

WOMAN'S QUEER CALLING.

A woman who appeared in London police court the other day was described as a "pawing agent." She makes her living by pawing things for her neighbors, who pay her a commission because they believe she can secure larger loans than they could.

THE WALL-STREET LOSER.

She—How much do you earn a year? He—About $2,000. "But we can't live on that." "You asked me how much I earned. I make about $2,000."—Life.
